Join our Young Activist Leaders program

- Explore social justice with other Spokane-area young people who value equality, human rights, economic justice, and peace!
- Sharpen your skills to lead and make change!
- Involved in a group or club? Help make it even more effective!

“This program has been incredibly helpful and enjoyable. It helps young activists realize and utilize their own power and promotes their autonomy as leaders and organizers.”

“Not only did this program give me numerous, explicitly useful tools for my activism, it refueled my spirit every month and encouraged me immensely to stay involved and active. I was treated like my work really mattered.”

Now taking applications for our 2012-2013 program, to run Oct 2012 through May 2013. Go to www.pjals.org/yalp or call 838-7870 for more info or to apply!

Peace and Justice Action League Young Activist Leaders Program!

“The Young Activist Leaders program is an amazing experience for all levels of personal experience. It is a wonderful opportunity for current leaders to share their knowledge with those who seek it and to ensure there are future leaders to push boundaries, ask questions, and seek justice.”

—2012 participant

Our 7-month leadership development program is right for young people already active in or leading student groups, faith communities, and community groups as well as for folks new to activism. It's a great opportunity to help new leaders grow or to create student projects! Starting in October 2012 and concluding in May 2013, every month participants will

- attend a skill-building educational workshop (see topic list below).
- volunteer with a group of their choice (including PJALS of course!).

Workshop Topics:

- Campaigns for Change: Planning and Coordinating
- How to Recruit and Mobilize
- Effective Meetings
- Fundraising
- Event Planning
- Generating Media Coverage
- Public Speaking
- Nonviolence and Militarism
- Identity, Privilege, and Oppression
- LGBT Equality and Liberation
- Moving Racial Justice Campaigns
- Corporate Power: An Economic Reality Check
- Negotiating with People in Power
- ...and more!

We provide a gathering place for young people to ask questions, to educate each other, and to explore social justice work together. Our hands-on program helps grow a vibrant network of young people committed to social justice.

Help us connect with young activists!

You can connect us with a group at a high school, college, your faith community, or elsewhere, or send a young leader from your group to participate in the program. Call us or visit www.pjals.org/valp to download a poster, check out the application, and more!

Your donation at any level will make a difference! Costs will include dedicated staff time, materials, food, and, if we can, bus passes and stipends for those who complete the commitment. Your donation of $50, $100, or any amount will help fund this exciting program! You can sponsor a youth leader at $1000 or co-sponsor at $500, or sponsor a workshop at $300. It's easy at www.pjals.org/contribute.
