Land, Freedom, Equality
A Palestinian Village's Non-Violent Struggle

Meet Iyad Burnat, leader of the non-violent Popular Resistance in Bil'in, Palestine (West Bank)

Friday, January 11, 7 pm – 9 pm
Unitarian Universalist Church of Spokane
4340 W. Fort George Wright Drive

^^

If you saw Emad Burnat's award-winning documentary "Five Broken Cameras", you will recognize his brother Iyad, walking here with President Carter in Bil'in.

Meet this man who is deeply engaged in a deadly struggle to end 45 years of military occupation of his land.

Hear first-hand how a town responds to confiscation of their farmland by force and without compensation, in the face of armed military opposition that has resulted in injury and death.

Iyad will tell the stories of Bil'in and life in the occupied West Bank, and talk about strategies for non-violent popular resistance with a goal of peace and prosperity for all people. His presentations are accompanied by photos and videos.

Sponsored by:
Peace and Justice Action League of Spokane (PJALS),
Veterans for Peace
Co-sponsored by Unitarian Universalist Church of Spokane

For more information, call
509-838-7870 pjals@pjals.org www.pjals.org

Land, Freedom, Equality
A Palestinian Village's Non-Violent Struggle

Meet Iyad Burnat, leader of the non-violent Popular Resistance in Bil'in, Palestine (West Bank)

Friday, January 11, 7 pm – 9 pm
Unitarian Universalist Church of Spokane
4340 W. Fort George Wright Drive

^^

If you saw Emad Burnat's award-winning documentary "Five Broken Cameras", you will recognize his brother Iyad, walking here with President Carter in Bil'in.

Meet this man who is deeply engaged in a deadly struggle to end 45 years of military occupation of his land.

Hear first-hand how a town responds to confiscation of their farmland by force and without compensation, in the face of armed military opposition that has resulted in injury and death.

Iyad will tell the stories of Bil'in and life in the occupied West Bank, and talk about strategies for non-violent popular resistance with a goal of peace and prosperity for all people. His presentations are accompanied by photos and videos.

Sponsored by:
Peace and Justice Action League of Spokane (PJALS),
Veterans for Peace
Co-sponsored by Unitarian Universalist Church of Spokane

For more information, call
509-838-7870 pjals@pjals.org www.pjals.org